

I live in Two Rivers, a community near Fairbanks, Alaska. My local K-LOVE radio station gives me a way to hear great music that reminds me of my faith and updates me on national events and happenings that matter to me. In Fairbanks and the surrounding area, K-LOVE is popular. If it were to be displaced by a LPFM broadcaster with other programming, the whole surrounding area would be unable to hear programming it has come to count on as a source of strength and encouragement as well as entertainment. Many people living in or near Fairbanks do not have very much money, and would not be able to afford to buy CDs of the music K-LOVE plays for free (and commercial-free!). It would be detrimental to their mental health and security. K-LOVE's broadcasting is in the public interest because it encourages and strengthens those who listen to it.
